Sculptress Connected to Central New York Honored on Postal Stamp

The United States Postal Service issued the 45th Black Heritage stamp on January 26, 2022, at the Smithsonian American Art Museum in Washington D.C. in honor of Edmonia Lewis, a Black and Native American sculptress who gained international recognition. Bobbie Reno, a Rensselaer County NY historian, campaigned for this recognition of Lewis.

Edmonia Lewis was born in 1844 to an Ojibwa/Chippewa woman from Albany and a formerly enslaved man from Haiti. Both parents died when Wildfire, as she was called, was young. She went to live with her mother's sisters. In later years her brother Samuel supported her and in 1856 Edmonia entered New York Central College. She then went to Oberlin College in Ohio from 1859 to 1863. Moving to Boston in 1864, Edmonia began to study sculpting. She was inspired by the lives of abolitionists and Civil War heroes as subjects. Abolitionist Lydia Maria Child brought attention to Edmonia's work. Among her earliest works were busts and portrait medallions of John Brown, William Lloyd Garrison, and Wendell Phillips – all inductees to the National Abolition Hall of Fame and Museum in Peterboro NY, as is Child. In 1866 Edmonia went to Rome to study and sculpt, returning there for many of the years until her death in 1907.

The McGraw Historical Society in Cortland County NY has collections of photographs, clippings, speeches and notes about the New York Central College buildings, and its professors and students. The college was founded by anti-slavery Baptists in 1849 to educate black and white, and female and male students. The school had continuing financial issues. Gerrit Smith, a wealthy abolitionist, donated to the college to keep it operational, and at one point purchased the school and gifted it back to the institution. A historical marker was dedicated to the site of the school in 1985.

Donna Dorrance Burdick, Town of Smithfield NY historian, discovered that Gerrit Smith, whose National Historic Landmark estate in Peterboro NY is open to the public, wrote in his journal "August 23, 1872, Edmonia Lewis (artist) of Rome, Italy, comes to take the first steps toward putting my statue in marble. I am surprised and not pleased by it. September 3, Edmonia leaves us." Smith's disinclination to a statue (a project conceived by his friends) prevailed. Edmonia made a plaster cast of the clasped right hands of Gerrit and Ann Smith, and later in her studio in Rome, she carved the hands in marble. The Edmonia Lewis sculpture of the clasped Smith hands is in the collection of the Madison County Historical Society in Oneida NY.

Stamp news is being shared with the hashtags EdmoniaLewis and #BlackHeritageStamps

Reverse Glass Workshop

June 18, 2022 • 9 am - 1 pm

Workshop led by Anne Dimock

$25 for Madison County Historical Society members
$30 for nonmembers

This workshop is for adults and children aged 13 years and up. Space is limited to 10 participants. Registration is required.

Join Reverse Glass Painting specialist, Anne Dimock, as she teaches you the step-by-step process of creating your very own reverse glass piece of art. The process of creating reverse glass involves painting a piece of glass in such a manner that when the glass is turned over the painting is visible through the glass and from the reverse side. The steps of reverse glass painting start with the image details and end with the background so that the artwork can be viewed from any angle as you turn the glass. As you learn and practice the techniques of reverse glass at the workshop, you will develop the skills necessary to master reverse glass painting.

Madison County Historical Society's Heritage Handicrafts: Reverse Glass Workshop is part of a series of leisure arts workshops designed to engage and involve participants in Fine Arts and Crafts activities common in the 19th century, with a focus on making cultural connections to creative pastimes, which are still relevant today. The Historical Society is collaborating with the Historical Society of Early American Decoration (HSEAD) member artists who will be leading a series of workshops at the Madison County Historical Society. HSEAD is a not-for-profit national organization whose mission is to perpetuate and expand the unique skills and knowledge of Early American Decoration through educational workshops, research, publishing, and exhibitions.

Anne Dimock has been a member of the HSEAD for 45 years. She is an accredited teacher of American Painted Tinware and Reverse Glass painting and has earned her specialist award in Reverse Glass Painting. She has been teaching since 1980 and presently holds classes in her home and travels to teach seminars throughout the Northeast.

She has received numerous awards from HSEAD and the National Watch and Clock Association, and her work has been featured in Early American Life's Top 200 Craftsmen. She lives in Trumansburg New York, has three children, nine grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

To learn more about the Historical Society of Early American Decoration, visit their website at www.hsead.org. To register for the workshop, please contact the Madison County Historical Society at 315-363-4136, history@mchs1900.org, or www.mchs1900.org. Prepackaged, single-serve snacks, and light refreshments will be offered.

MCHS HERITAGE HANDICRAFTS

Holiday Penny Rug Workshop

Sunday, September 25
1 - 3 pm

$25 for MCHS members
$30 for nonmembers

The class size for this workshop is restricted to 15 participants who must be at least 13 years of age. Learn to make a Penny Rug Holiday Ornament with rug maker, Sandy Rolewicz. In the 1800s women would repurpose worn textiles, saving wool scraps to create colorful fabric home decor. A penny rug is created by layering circles of wool, using a coin as a template to trace the circular shape, hence the term penny rug.

Terne Coated Tin Roof Restoration Project is still in need of your support!

We need $1,100 to reach our goal!

In April of 2021, the Historical Society received a $5,000 grant from the Pomeroy Fund for NYS History, a partnership between the William G. Pomeroy Foundation and the Museum Association of New York for the restoration project on the Historical Society's side porch terne-coated tin roof where snow and ice build-up damaged the porch roof. The project has yet to commence due to the late Spring rainy weather here so, the plan is to start in Summer 2022. The damage is extensive, and the restoration project costs $9,000. With the funding support received from the Pomeroy Fund for NYS History, a partnership between the William G. Pomeroy Foundation and the Museum Association of New York grant, and $2,900 received in donations from our members we have almost raised enough funds. The Historical Society hopes that we can count on you, our members, once again to help us meet our goal of raising $1,100 so that we can repair the roof.

Collections Committee volunteers needed

The Collections Committee ensures that proper care and procedure are exercised with the Historical Society's collection of archives, objects, textiles, and photography. Volunteers will be trained on all aspects pertaining to the organization's adopted collection management policy. The committee is actively involved with exhibitions, tours, and other projects related to the display and use of the historical society's collection. The Committee works in close consultation with the Executive Director.

8TH ANNUAL Cottage Lawn Farmers Market

Tuesdays, June 7 - August 30
2 - 6 pm

The Madison County Historical Society is excited to announce new plans for the 8th Annual Cottage Lawn Farmers' Market. The summer market will open every Tuesday starting June 7 and run through August 30, from 2-6 pm. The Historical Society is looking for farmers, food trucks, and other related market products to participate in this weekly market on the grounds of the Madison County Historical Society located at 435 Main Street in Oneida. The seasonal market will feature local, seasonal produce, cheese, eggs, herbs, soaps, maple products, honey, poultry, and much more. Plans are being made to have live entertainment and themed weeks focusing on wellness, families, and recognizing our dedicated service organizations within our community. Other weekly activities offered will include guided house tours, and weekly storytelling provided by the Oneida Public Library.
